Hi-Lights and Shadows of the Week's News

WAR NEWS —

London reported definite signs of weakening of the Nazi war attack on England as the British capital was subjected to its 18th consecutive night of broken rest. Massed planes seem to experience more difficulty getting over the center of London this week than they did earlier in the main battle which started Aug. 8. Anti-aircraft fire has improved in volume and the larger guns are forcing visiting fliers to keep at extreme heighths.

British warships shelled the French African port of Dakar Monday bringing conflicting reports from Vichy and London. Gen. de Gaulle, head of the so-called free Frenchmen, headed the expedition which called for surrender of the port. Vichy wired the Governor to resist and the warships shelled French vessels and forts, being fired upon in return. DeGaulle reported he did not try to land troops as he did not want Frenchmen to fight Frenchmen, but Vichy claime a landing party had been repulsed.

Japanese and French forces are fighting a bitter battle for control of French-Indo China. The Japs invaded the colony two hours before an ultimatum they issued had expired and French and native forces resisted. Indo-China is a strategic area for control of the East Indies and China and world-wide consequences will likely come from the invasion.

British officials have stated the U. S. has been offered the use of the great naval and air base at Singapore and the American heavy cruiser Augusta is reported headed for that port. This may be a gesture to warn the Japanese their new military move will not be ignored by this country.

Italian forces in Egypt seem to have stalled at Sidi Barrani some 70 miles inside the country along the sea coast. British war vessels have repeatedly shelled the Italian munition dumps at that point. Egyptians appeared to disregard Italian efforts to turn them against the British.

News filtered through this week that Hitler's invasion forces met with a body blow from both the British and the elements last week. Picked troops were on board barges and numerous smaller boats when the RAF started terrific bombing raids on the craft. Then as the moment for invasion arrived a gale had blown up and numerous barges were overturned and the fleet badly broken up with a loss of 50 to 60 thouand men, the report tells. Now the best season for invasion is definitely past and Hitler may have lost his last chance to land a conquering army on English soil.

British bombers turned most of their attention to Nazi invasion fleets and channel ports last week leaving the German capital undisturbed for many nights. Monday they returned and blasted Berlin for nearly four hours setting big fires. British bombers have lately reported direct hits on the Ens Canal bye-pass. This is a vulnerable link in the German inland waterways system and a strategic point where successful bombing would disrupt water traffic. Berlin is silent about the affair.

Eighty-three refugee children were among the victims lost in the torpedoing of a British liner last week with a total loss of 294. These are the first child refugees lost among some 3,000 who have crossed to this side of the Atlantic.

Von Ribbentrop has returned to Germany after his long conference with Mussolini. Some military observers incline to the opinion a new major campaign was being discussed to divert attention from the failure of German planes to bring the British to their knees. The Italian invasion of Egypt is not regarded by experts as more than a diversion campaign to cloud the situation until the Axis powers are ready to strike a blow at more vulnerable territory.

Daylight Time Ends Sunday

Daylight saving time ends Sunday at 2 a. m. officially. That means that you push your clock back one hour to 1 o'clock, go to bed and wake up Sunday morning with an hour's additional sleep lost last spring when you shoved your clock ahead. Then Sunday night you will talk about how dark it gets so early. In two or three days you will forget all about it and life will resume the normal tenor of its way and the trains will come in when we think they should. It would be smart to push your clock back Saturday night so you won't get confused Sunday morning.

Russ Re-elected Legion Head

John W. Russ was reelected commander of Williams-Greengrass Post American Legion at the annual meeting and election held Wednesday night in the newly created post headquarters in the village hall. Andrew W. Knebel was chairman of the nominating committee which brought in the slate of officers, all of whom were elected. Dr. Amos G. Stiker and William E. Newman were also members of the nominating committee.

Those elected to serve during the coming year are: First vice commander Walter Reynolds of Woodhull; second vice commander, B. F. Short; chaplain, Irving R. Gladstone; adjutant and finance officer, William E. Newman. Committee chairmen and committees and appointive officers will be announced later.

Dr. Stiker formally installed the officers at the conclusion of the election. Plans for the year will be made and activities promoted towards better citizenship and organization of Legionnaires for service in case of emergency.

HAVE A DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Leary of Rochester are parents of a daughter born September 23. She has been named Patricia. The mother, Mrs. Leary, will be remembered as the former Miss Virginia Nellis daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Nellis who resided on Cooper Ave until their removal to Albion about a year ago.

Boy Scout Meetings Will Be Held Mondays— Monthly Feeds Planned

Scoutmaster Bernard Wilson of Troop 27 has announced that hereafter Scout meetings will be held Monday nights in the Scout headquarters in the Grammar School building. Heretofore the meetings have been held on Thursday nights.

A series of winter feeds is planned with the Scouts doing the preparing and serving of the meals. There will be monthly feeds for the Scouts. A reorganization of patrols has taken place and a program of activity has been laid out for the winter months.

Baseball Movies Feature Ad Club Meeting Thurs.

Irving R. Gladstone will be program chairman for the Thursday night meeting of the Advertising Club of Addison. There will be supper at 6:30 o'clock in the Methodist Church parlors with the women of the church serving.

The program will consist of motion pictures of baseball games in the American League, some outstanding players and an insight into how baseball players "get that way" and why. The pictures will be shown by Joseph Surena of Elkland, well know amateur photographer of this vicinity. This is not a ladies' night program.

Construction Traffic Tieup Shows Number of Cars Using Route 17

That Route 17, the Liberty Highway is well traveled is a well known fact. And the recent county census proved that it is an important link in the state and also in the national system of highways in the east.

When something happens on that highway to tie up traffic, a real tieup becomes quickly evident. This was shown last week when traffic was held up at times owing to construction on the new Main street bridge in Addison. From 40 to 60 cars at a time were held up on each side of the bridge and one local man said it was the first time he had seen west bound cars halted to the R. E. Smith place on Front St., even by the longest Erie train.

Count kept of cars going through the narrow channel caused by the construction on the bridge number from 264 to 328 cars per hour during the Friday and Saturday afternoon traffic.

Garden Club Flower Show Proves Mecca For Many Saturday

Women stage first exhibit in many years—Flower lovers bring out prize speciments—Show was non-competitive — Incentive given for larger show next year—Serve tea, ice cream and cake.

Succeess marked the efforts of the women of the Garden Club of the Home Bureau in their first garden and flower show held Saturday afternoon and evening in the Grange hall. An unusually large number of entries plus a better-than-looked for attendance gave encouragement to the women to make this an annual feature ofclub programs. Tea was served at the afternoon session and ice cream and cake at the evening exhibit.

The floral displays were tastefully arranged around the walls of the hall with the names of the particular flowers and their exhibitors displayed on neat cards. The exhibitors were not limited to club members and so several of the community who specialize in various flowers presented their hobbies Among the special exhibits were those of three growers, George Wildrick, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bullock and Claude Martin.

Among the exhibits and their sponsors were: gladiola center piece by Elsie Ruth Mattison in the children's exhibit; miniature garden made by the fourth graders; mixed bouquet by June Fedchock in the children's exhibit; miniature arrangement by Peggy Ann Russ in the children's exhibit; dahlia flower zinnias by Rose Marie Wildrick in the children's exhibit; mixed bouquet by Peggy Chart in the children's exhibit; red, white and blue bouquet by Ann Mose; hybrid tea rose by Esther Stewart.

Balsam by Mrs. Sheldon Stewart; exhibit of mixed flowers by John James;talisman roses by Mrs. Stewart; hibiscus by Mrs. Ray S. Brown; azaliamum by Mrs. R. B. Dykins; calendula by Mr. James; marigolds by Mrs Ruby Beers; mixed bouquet of wild flowers by Miss Helen Smith; mixed bouquet by Mrs. Clinton Russ; mixed bouquet by Miss Jennie Campbell; mixed flowers by Mrs. Beers; zinnias, calendulas and coxcomb by Mrs. Robert Soper; dahlias by Mrs. A. B. Ackerson; petunias by Mrs. Stewart; asters and marigolds by Mr. James; dalias by Mrs. Ackerson; dahlias by John Chart ;delphiniums by Mrs Stewart.

Zinnias by Mr. James; gladiola by Mrs. Stewart; snapdragons by Mrs. Beers; marigolds by Mrs. Stewart; pinks, zinnias and dahlias by Mrs. Stewadt; glads by Mrs. Ackerson; zinnias and annual phlox by Mrs. Beers; calendulas, zinnias, and asters by Mrs. Dykins;asters by Mrs. Soper; poppies by Mrs. Walter Swan; hydrangeas by Mrs. Harry Chappell; dahlias by Mrs. E. O. Hannahs; hydrangea by Mrs. Eugene Wade; and hooked rug by Mrs. John Hopper and Mrs. Stewart.

Also table arrangements by Mrs. Thomas Hopper; bubble garden by Mrs. E. O. Hannahs; bubble garden by Mrs. Hopper; calendulas by Mrs. Dykins; foliageplant by Mrs. Zelma Chappell; tea arrangement by Mrs. Harry Chappell, Mrs. Clinton Russ Mrs. Roland Dininny and Mrs. Clifford Moyer; miniature arrangement by John Mitchell and Mrs.John Hopper.

Next year the women hope to have a larger show earlier in the floral season. They also expect to have it on the ground floor level to attract a greater number of people to the interesting display, the first of its in Addison in many, many years.

Wickering Store Grand Opening This Week

Every woman who visits the John E. Wickering Hardware Store, Main street at the five corners Friday and Saturday of this week will be given a souvenir of the opening of Main street's newest business.

Attention is called to a series of five advertisements appearing in the Advertiser-Sentinel this week. These advertisements call attention to the many products sold by this enterprising young merchant.

It is only a few months ago that Mr. Wickering acquired the hardware business and farm machinery distribution from Robert Stickler of Campbell, who in turn purchased the business from Hawkins & Hill, who for many years conducted a general hardware, farm machinery and feed business.

The new store was moved during the past week to the former S. C. Erwin store and employees have been painting and constructing and installing cases, shelves and other equipment necessary to handle a complete line of stoves, radios, paint, hardware, automobile supplies and farm machinery. Mr. Wickering is assisted by Eldon Estep.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Mrs. Brown As President

Mrs. Elmer C. Bovee was presented a past president's pin by the women of the American Legion Auxiliary at the annual meeting held last week and Mrs. Reuben Brown was chosen presiding officer for the coming year. The new president and members of her staff were formally installed by Mrs. Irving R. Gladstone.

Others elected were: First vice president, Mrs. Floyd van Nortwick; second vice president, Mrs. Andrew W. Knebel; secretary and publicity chairman, Miss Florence Edwards; chaplain and historian, Mrs. Irving R. Gladstone; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. E. Auringer; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. John Russ; treasurer, Mrs. George Freeman; the executive committee, chairman, Mrs. Amos Stiker assisted by Mrs. Guy Ricker and Miss Leanore Runyan; membership committee, Mrs. George Freeman, chairman and Mrs. Auringer and Mrs. Bovee as co-workers; Mrs. Brown will be delegate to the county meetings. Other county delegates will be Mrs. Bovee, Mrs. Clare Chart and Miss Runyan.

Mrs. Gladstone was presented a bouquet by the members of the chapter and Mrs. Bovee was presented an end table. A social hour program was held after the elections in the Legion rooms in the village hall. A luncheon was also served under the direction of Mrs. Van Nortwick, Mrs. Ricker, Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Auringer.

Four Addison Football Fans Will Forecast

Four local football enthusiasts have agreed to act as a board of experts in fortelling the scores of 10 football games each week during the coming football season. The first week, this week, they are being given five games to fortell scores on as a warming up exercise. It is hoped that with these four and a guest guesser each week, some lively interest in football can be created in this vicinity.

The four who have agreed to crawl out, and way out on a limb and lead with their chins are Dr. Stuart H. Bean, Frank B. Finnerty, Milton H. Crane and Coach William J. Miller. The guest guesser will be chosen by the sports editor of this paper each week.

The games will be chosen from representative, well known college teams throughout the country. Scores of the experts for Saturday's games will be published the Thursday before each game and the following week the actual scores of the week will be published.

Anyone is invited to pit their judgement against our local experts and try to outguess them any week on what scores of games will be. Each participant will be guessing on the same 10 games each week with different teams chosen each week.

Avon Theatre Building Struck by Lightning

The freak storm of thunder, lightning and torrential rains of short duration Saturday afternoon left their imprint on Addison. Most of those who felt the force of the storm realized lightning struck locally, owing to the sharpness of the clash.

The Avon Theatre building owned by Mrs. John Crane was struck and several feet of the roof on the south side of the building were torn off and many bricks were pulled from their place in the wall.

As far as can be learned no other damage was done to the building, a landmark on Main street.

Many Firms Cooperate In Addison Building And Highway Projects

There has been so much construction work going on here and so much planned during this week that it has been a hard job to distinguish the various contractors, their projects and equipment.

The town of Addison equipment has been assisting the E. W. Foley, Inc., in building the sub-base for the Colwell and Wall street approaches to the temporary bridge, the Foley Company has equipment here and Archie Blades has been putting the black top dressing on the Colwell and Wall Street approaches, county trucks have been going through the village as have state maintenance trucks and black top dressing is being put in front of the Amoca Station by an Elmira contractor. In addition Blades Company is to put black top on Colwell Street and upper Steuben and Goodhue streets are to be repaired and oiled. The last three projects are being done by the Village Fathers.

Reagan Barn Struck By Lightning Saturday

The barn on the Frank Reagan farm in the town of Rathbone was totally destroyed by fire Saturday when struck by lightning during the severe electrical storm. Fortunatly no livestock was in the barn at the time but a quantity of hay and straw, farm implements and other articles stored in the barn were destroyed. The loss, estimated at about $13,000 is partly covered by insurance.

Grange Safety Program At Friday Meeting

October has been designated as Grange Safety Month throughout the nation. The Addison Grange will have a "safety program" on Friday night, September 27 according to an announcement made by Lecturer Miss Velma Perkins. This promises to be a worthwhile program for all Grangers as stress will be laid upon safety about the home, barn and farm.

At Federation Outing In Hammondsport

Vernon Adsit, past president of the Addison Fish and Game Club was in charge of the ticket sales for the Steuben County Sportsmen's Federation at the annual outing held Sunday at Aviation Field, Hammondsport. He was assisted by a committee of members from the Addison Club, consisting of Walter McDermott, Raymond Stewart, Harry Mullen and Kenneth Nixon. Mr. Adsit was also a judge at the bird dog trials. There were over 4,000 at the outing from many points

Future Farmers Chose Space President

The first meeting of the FFA Chapter of the Addison High School was held Monday at 12:00 in the "ag" room of the school. The purpose of the meeting was to elect officers for the coming year. Warren Perkins, former president, presided and all other officers except James Hall of last year were present.

The following officers were elected: Charles Space, president; Edwin Porter, vice president; John Nichols, secretary, John O'Connor, treasurer; William Stuart, reporter and Donald Silsbee, watch dog.

Frank Finnerty complimented Warren Perkins on the good work he did for the chapter as president the past year.

Clifford House, Hornell, County Commander will formally install the officers of Williams-Greengrass Post at a dinner meeting to be held in the Eagle Hotel on Wednesday, October 9.

School Board Discusses Many Activities at September Meet

Will have insurance survey made — Seniors to go to Washington—Religious education to begin October 2—Colwell street water hole to be filled for better walking—Other businss.

Survey will be made of the insurance coverage for the high school on all classes of insurance now carried by the Board of Education and recommendations for additional coverage and to determine overcovage on some policies will be determined by this survey. This action was decided at the September meeting of the Board held Tuesday night. Milton H. Crane and Will B. Leete, local agents were present at the meeting and agreed to such survey for fire, casualty and other types of insurance now carried. No such survey has ever been made here. The Board will not be bound by what the survey reveals, but it will enlighten the members and assist them in placing insurance.

Trustee Andrew W. Knebel will investigate a bill of $26.33 from Lowe & Campbell for athletic supplies dated April 26. The bill was made out to F. B. Finnerty for equipment about which nothing was known. Board members paid a Lowe & Campbell bill in May and assumed that everything was paid to date. Mr. Finnerty has told trustees he knows nothing about this bill.

Religious Education

Religious education for week days will begin Wednesday, October 2, according to action taken by the board. Regents department rulings require annual permission for this week-day religious education program. The Catholic children will go to the Catholic Church, the Episcopal children to the Episcopal Church where the Rev. Willson will be in charge for the time being. Other Protestant children will be divided. The third grade children will go to the Baptist Church, fourth grade to the Presbyterian Church and fifth graders will go to the Methodist Church. No sixth graders will be taken among the Protestant children this year, owing to having had the program last year.

The Board received a check for $20.09 from the Home Making Department towards the purchase price of the studio couch secured last year. Library chairs will be repaired to make them less noisy when scraped on the floor. A sheet and two pillow cases will be purchased for the nurse's room. New geographies were purchased this year owing to changes in the geography of the world being made by wars and conquests at present.

Carl Vanderburg, teacher of music, was given permission to use the school facilities for teaching private lessons for piano students after school and Saturday. Inspection of music instruments will be made periodically by Mr. Evans Elmira Heights and minor repairs recommendations will be made to

Parents Asked to Cooperate For Traffic Safety

School board members are much concerned over the safety problem involved in getting younger children to and from school while the new bridge is being constructed. The danger concerns children living north of the river. Parents are asked to cooperate by having children living on the south side of the river use the south side of Valerio Parkway in going to and coming from school, and the children living north of the river use the west side of the temporary bridge, the west side of Wall street to the north side of Front street and then across the street where there is little traffic.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Willis Perry and Clark Baxter was appointed to work with President Maurice Miller to try to work out a solution of this problem with the village authorities and the state and bridge engineers.

It was suggested at the Board of Education meeting Tuesday that if Addison secures National Youth Administration aid, the young men can assist as traffic guides for the younger boys and girls in school.

Game Club Shoot Sunday Open To Sportsmen

Sportsmen of Addison and vicinity who are interested in trap, skeet or target shooting are invited to shoot with members of the Addison Fish and Game Club at an informal shoot Sunday morning. There are shells and birds at the club house for use of those desiring to shoot. This is the first in a series of informal shoots to be held this fall under the auspices of the local club. And an invitation is extended to all those who like to shoot to take advantage of the club's facilities. Shooting will begin early in the morning and continue until noon.

Addisonites Are At World's Fair

Several from Addison have been at the World's Fair of 1940 in New York during the past week.

Among those who attended were M. G. Hubbs, James Barkalow and George Freeman, who left Saturday morning for five days at the Fair. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Smith and daughter Muriel of Steuben street, left Saturday afternoon by auto. They expect to return to Addison Sunday. Wesley Smith returned Sunday from a week's trip to the Fair. Frank Ginnane of Buffalo, a former resident was also at the Fair.

Farmer's Union Meeting In Grange Hall Thursday

There will be a meeting of dairy Farmer's Union members in the Addison Grange Hall Thursday night at 8 o'clock standard time according to Ralph Decker, local representative. This will be a meeting for members only. There will be a business meeting and a discussion of local problems. All members in this vicinity are urged to be present.

HAS OPERATION

Mrs. George L. Smith, Front street is recuperating in the Corning Hospital from an operation for removal of gall bladder Monday.

Rev. N. V. Cossaboon Stricken in Pulpit

The Rev. Nicholas V. Cossaboon, pastor of the Methodist Church, was stricken ill while in the pulpit at the service Sunday morning. He is confined to his bed in the parsonage and will be unable to be about his pastorial duties for several weeks. The Rev. Cossaboon felt the illness coming upon him and called the Rev. E. C. Cole, retired, Rathbone, from the congregation. The Rev. Cole completed the service. He will have charge of services in the local church until the complete recovery of the Rev. Cossaboon. The trouble started with a throat condition and later a hemorrhage. His condition is reported as fair at his home.

Hardenbrook is Grateful For Party Harmony

Bath, Sept. 25 — E. Ray Hardenbrook, Steuben County commissioner of public welfare, today issued the following statement:

"I wish to express my sincere and lasting appreciation to the voters who gave me their endorsement in the recent primary that made possible my renomination to the office I now hold. It was gratifying to know that in a contest overshadowed by national and international events of far-reaching importance, now commanding the attention of every real American, so many felt disposed to support my candidacy.

"One of the happiest incidents that came immediately after the voters made their decision was the kindly offer of support from my opponent, Mr. Joseph Reigelsperger of Wayland, an offer that I accepted with utmost pleasure. Such an offer, after the heat of a campaign, indicates anew that political differences may be adjusted in the primary without affecting the loyalty of real Republicans to their party or their party's candidates.

TRAGEDY STRIKES HARD

Two tragic events have followed each other in rapid order in this community the last few days. One an instant death by electrocution, and the other as sudden a departure by unexpected, natural causes. The friends of both victims have been subjected to a severe shock and merit the sympathy of all their neighbors.

The death of Stanley Ward came without a moment's warning. Many are killed suddenly in these days of speeding cars piloted by careless drivers, but this young man met his fate while working on the bridge construction project. In no way could one say he himself contributed to the accident which sealed his fate. Where the blame for this tragedy may be finally placed is not for us to say or even throw out a surmise. Time may eventually fix the blame, but no indemnity can relace a young man strucken at the threshold of life.

The passing of Mrs. Ethel Smyth was a cruel blow to her near ones and left the entire community with a sense of loss. Mrs. Smyth had so long served the public in the post office she was looked upon as a fixture by most every person in Addison. Gracious, even-tempered and always obliging she will be sorely missed and deeply mourned.

UNCLE SAM DELIVERS NAZI PROPAGANDA FREE

While it is increasingly difficult for the United States to send mail to Germany—what is sent must run the Censor's gauntlet—Germany is flooding this country with propaganda pamphlets which the U. S. Post offices are compelled under the existing International Postal Union rules to distribute without receiving any postage payment whatever, according to Henry Hoke, publisher of the monthly Reporter of Direct Mail Advertising.

Pointing out that the German propaganda minister has a most elaborate mailing list on which is listed every German-American—or every one tracked down so far—who has relatives living in Germany, Hoke declares:

"It is the rule of the International Postal Union that the country of original transmission retains all the money collected for postage on ordinary mail . . . the country of final distribution delivers free. While Germany has directed mail campaigns into every country already subdued, the major effort is now being expended towards America. All Germany needs to do to get its mail delivered free in the U. S. A. is to print the postage stamps, and that is exactly what it is doing.

The publication goes on to state that every two weeks German Americans on the mailing list receive a 48-page mimeographed bulletin in English headed NEWS FROM GERMANY, and mailed from Steinberg, Bavaria. About once a week there is a bulletin in German, and at spasmodic intervals booklets arrive from various distributing centers in Germany such as Hanover, Emden and Dresden, all preaching the gospel of the wonders of Hitler-ruled Germany.

The Dies committee has indicated it is planning to investigate the misuse of U. S. mails by foreign agents, and Representative Samuel Dickstein of New York is demanding the cancellation of the International Postal convention with Germany, charging that "the United States is paying millions of dollars for propaganda against our own form of government".

MOTORISTS FACE FALL HAZARDS

The fall season brings additional responsibility to every driver of a motor car. Falling leaves add a nuisance that can cause accidents and death.

It is likely that statistics would prove that the greatest number of automobile accidents actually happen between the middle of September and the first of November, many of which can be avoided if proper care is exercised.

Drivers are urged to be conscious of the additional risk, and to operate their cars with extreme care. Not so much hurry and more thought of others will also add its weight.

If every driver is bent upon one thing—human life—there will be no accidents this Fall due to wet leaves and slippery driving.

"I'm not so sure we haven't got a good imitation of Hitler in the White House now".

—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson

JIMMY WALKER RETURNS

After two years of nearly total eclipse, Jimmie Walker—the beau brummel ex-mayor of New York has found a new place in the sun. Mayor LaGuardia has appointed him to a $20,000 job as czar of the cloak and suit industry. The appointment, made after LaGuardia's recent visit to the White House, gives rise to speculation as to who may have inspired Walker's selection.

LINCOLN ON LIBERTY

MANY free countries have lost their liberty and ours may lose hers; but, if she shall, be it my proudest plume, not that I was the last to desert, but that I never deserted her.

MORE "CLASS" LEGISLATION PROPOSED

Lieut.-Gov. Poletti would create a special group of beneficiaries among the draftees for army training. In a recent statement from Albany he proposes enactment of a bill to pay all employes of the state, county, city, village and town governments, the difference between their salaries when drafted, and the pay they receive in the army.

Any such legislation should be squashed before it gets started. It should be vigorously opposed by non-partisan action, for it is vicious class legislation. Why should John Doak get a chunk of the taxpayers' money because he has a government sinecure, and Bill Smith who works for his living in industry, clerks in a store, or does farm work, be denied like payment?

Such discrimination against the multitude of privately employed, in favor of the better-paid public servant minority, is contrary to all the instincts of fair-play and decency inherent in true Americanism. It must not be tolerated by the already heavily burdened taxpayers. And the hidden and nuisance taxes make big taxpayers of every class, regardless of the figures on pay envelopes.

This paper believes it is the duty of every voter to let the lawmakers know in no uncertain terms that such legislation must not be enacted.

Horse-drawn carriages used to average 11½ miles an hour in New York's midtown traffic; today the average speed of automibiles is a bare six miles an hour.

JUST DRIVING ALONG

Strange the thoughts that parade through a driver's mind when he hits the open road. So many little things that seem unimportant, and so many things that were created through the expenditure of large sums of money. It can become a peculiar panorama.

We were interested this week to know the facts about some things, as we ambled over the adjacent highways. Wonder how many dollars worth of skunk fur laid waste in the highway? Then came a signboard that had no particular interest, but just beyond was all that remained of some child's pet—a dead kitten. How many little hearts are broken each year when their pets are run down? A railroad crossing with a flasher signal, and we wondered how the engineer knew whether or not the signal was working? To our knowledge there is no signal telling him that the flasher is in order, and there are lives to be thought of. A schoolhouse caught our fancy, since recess was in order. There were only a scattering of children, and the cost of equipping them with only the fundamentals must have been many dollars per head.

Our curiosity was aroused when a flock of sheep were noticed with heads close to the old farm building. We inquired and found that they were suffering from some sort of head-grub (it eventually kills them unless a simple remedy is applied) and breathing the hot air was one means of relief. Then another billboard held no especial interest, and being of an advertising temperament, we debated the value of what, to us, seemed like silly words. It is only occasionally that a billboard stops us.

You, also, have driven all these roads, seen the same things—and countless others—and are still wondering what it is all about.

EAGER PILOTS WAY TO SERVICE BARRED

Washington—Eager, qualified pilots and other civilian experts, much needed and sought by the Air Corps to build up the national defense in the present 'limited emergency' proclaimed by the President, are discovering that it takes longer to get into the Army than it does for a dictator to win a war.

Discouraged by delays due to jungles of red tape, they are beginning to take the cynical view that Mr. Roosevelt's "time flies" comment on Congressional delay in enacting the selective service bill is a fitting motto for the entire rearmament program.

Discouraged and disillusioned when told that it will take a minimum of six weeks to put their induction paper through the devious channels of the War Department, a second shock is due them if they take the six weeks estimate seriously.

Even well qualified flying officers of the National Guard—airline pilots and the like, who are as good as the pick of the Army's pilots, or better, and would be welcomed additions to the general headquarters air force, have discovered that it takes months for them to transfer from the Guard to the Air Corps Reserve. Such a transfer is essential if they are to serve with the regular army squadrons.

It would seem that some military "channels" need a bit of official dredging if the defense program is to be speeded up.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering has just ordered that all Polish laborers, men and women, must wear a new "scarlet letter" sewed to the right chest side of all their garments. This distinguishing insignia is a purple Roman letter "P" against a yellow diamond-shaped background.

THE SWORD OF DAMOCLES

The Rambler

Attention to details is the secret of the success of many individuals and many corporations and companies. And I believe that it is this attention which makes things move on the bridge construction job here. To the average onlooker it seems to take a long time to do a certain process, then all of a sudden it is done. The details leading up to that job have been cared for. And when anyone about the village speaks of something to any one of the men connected with the job they are willig to listen.

—o—

I was particularly impressed with their cooperativeness by personal incident of Tuesday night when I was in a hurry to get to the Corning Hospital and the operators and workers about the big crane made my way easier for me. I appreciated that.

—o—

The news of the death of Mrs. Ethel Smyth came as a shock Monday noon. But the chief feelings of those who know the family go out to Ruth Ann, who at the age of 11 is left without mother or father. Not that she will not be cared for, but there are none like your own folks.

—o—

There are some stores and companies in town that invite criticism and suggestions for improvement. There are others that resent it and feel that the well-intended person is insulting them. This thought came to mind in a statement of the Avon management recently in which they invite suggestions for the improvement of the theatre and shows.

—o—

What is the basis for the seemingly universal trait of wanting to get something for nothing which seems to prevade humanity? And I'll plead guilty to this on many occasions.

The plea for the cooperation of parents in promoting safety among the children while construction is going on should not fall on deaf ears. The Board of Education is sincere in its desire to protect the children who have to cross the highways. But all the rules, lectures and policemen cannot watch or protect the children without help.

It is seldom that an official is criticized for non-spending money. But during the past few weeks I have heard rumors from non-official sources that some of our village officials are being criticized for not spending as much money as previous administrations.

Did you ever see such weather as we have had in the past few months As this column is being written it has rained, the sun has shone and people are going about huddled up in top coats.

The sympathy of the community goes out to the Rev. Cossaboon of the Methodist Church, who was stricken while preaching Sunday morning. I'm told it will be several weeks before he will be able to resume his full work. I'm wondering who I will have to argue with on Monday morning's now.

It is good news to hear that Bernard Wilson has taken over the Scoutmastership of the Addison Boy Scout troop. He has had experience, likes the boys and they like him and he is quite practical. I'm sure he will make a success of Scouting for the boys who are willing to try to become good Scouts and observe the Scout Oath and Laws. They are fortunate to have such a leader instead of a military leader regimenting them as is done in many countries of the world.

Americans Can Aid

British civilians are in need of firearms for the protection of their homes and an appeal to Americans to provide small arms is being made throughout the United States. The guns and ammunition or cash is to be forwarded to the American Committee for the Defense of British Homes, 10 Warren street, New York

The types of guns needed are: Pistols and revolvers of .32, .38, .45 and .455 in all makes and ammunition; rifles of .30, .303 and 44.40 calibre sporting rifles and all metric calibres from 7 .m to 8 m.m. and all military types including Mauser, Lee, Enfield etc. The committee will also receive 10 and 12 gauge shotguns but no guns with Damascus barrels. Ammunition of number four buck to number 00 buck rifled slugs and pumpkin balls will be received. Ammunition from 150 to 500 rounds for each gun will be appreciated.

Each container should be labeled with the make of the firearm, number, calibre, catalog number and the ammunition if any.

Business Hi-Lights

INDUSTRIAL BUILDING SHOWS GAINS

143 industrial building plans, calling for expenditures in the total of $1,913,060 were filed during the month of August, surpassing all previous August figures of the 17-year old records of New York's Labor Department, according to State Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller.

DEPARTMENT STORE SALES UP

August sales of department stores in the New York Federal Reserve Bank District averaged 14.1 per cent better than during August, 1939.

FORD TO BUILD PLANE MOTORS

Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, handled the controls of a steam shovel which broke ground last week for an 11 million dollar airplane factory at the Ford River Rouge plant. Ford said he expected production would begin by March 1, next year, of the 4,000 double-Wasp Pratt & Whitney airplane motors ordered by the United States Government.

The new plant buildings will be almost windowless, and virtually invisible at night. It is expected employment will be given 10,000 skilled mechanics when operations get into full swing.

RETAIL STORES IMPROVE SALES

A survey of the National Retail Credit Association reports that total sales of 10,723 retail stores in 31 cities in the United States and Canada increased 7 per cent in August over August a year ago. Collections showed an improvement of 4.9 percent, and credit sales were up 7.3 per cent. These gains were attributed to improvement in private employment.

GUN MAKERS PAY DIVIDEND

The 300 stockholders in the 25-year-old Thompson Automatic Arms Corporation, Utica, New York will receive a dividend of $5.50 per share this week, the first the makers of these famous "Tommy Guns" have ever paid.

The Thompson Company manufactures submachine guns and other small arms, and shells only to governments. An official of the Utica plant explained that this dividend was made possible by the disposal during the last year of inventories built up during the early 1920's.

CURTIS PROPOSES $18,000,000 PLANT

The Curtis Aeroplane Company of Buffalo is looking to a 25-year lease on Buffalo's Municipal Airport, and the acquisition of city-owned land at the airport. The Curtis Company plan the construction of a new $18,000,000 plant which would furnish employment to 10,000 workers. The lease would not interfere with commercial flying.

The present Curtis plant on Kenmore Avenue, in the city of Buffalo has up to this time specialized in small fighting craft which it has been possible to truck to the flying field for testing. With contracts in hand for larger military planes, it is essential that any new factory be so located as to avoid the difficulties encountered by Bell Aircraft with plant on Elmwood Avenue in Buffalo. Every time Bell completes a big Airacuda, the wings have to be dismantled before it can be moved through the streets to the testing field. Even without wings an Airacuda occupies the entire width of Elmwood Avenue and its movement requires an advance and rear guard of city police and deputy sheriffs to avoid possible damage. As the ships Curtis is scheduled to build may exceed Airacudas in size a factory at the airport would permit testing the high bombers almost at the factory door.

G. E. GETS WAR CONTRACT

Erie, Pa., H. L. Emmet, works manager of the General Electric Company's Erie plant, is authority for the statement they have been awarded a second contract for the construction of artillery material for the U. S. Army. The new contract calls for gun mountings to cost $1,759,862.

GAS APPLIANCE SALES GAIN.—

During the first seven months of 1940, the sale of gas fired furnaces ran 48.5% ahead of sales for the corresponding period of 1939, according to report of the Association of Gas Appliance and Equipment Manufacturers. Gains also were registered for the same period of 15.8% in gas range sales, while the sale of gas water heaters rose 13.3%.

BUSINESS BETTERMENTS —

Lumber production for the first 37 weeks of 1940 is reported as 8 per cent above same period of 1939.

Pere Marquette Railway placed orders for 600 freight cars during the past week, according to statement released at their offices in Cleveland, Ohio.

Automobile Manufacturers' Association on Saturday last, reported that retail sales of passenger cars and commercial vehicles for the first eight months of 1940 totaled 2,749,626 units, an increase of 26.2 percent over the comparable period of 1939.

Canadian carloadings for week-end of September 14, totaled 61,779 against 55,361 the previous week.

TODAY - - -

I would like to have it said that I had added to the joy of living by a kindly word, thought or act.

That I had spoken only words of kindliness toward all and that I had been tolerant of my friends' opinions. That I had been truthful in my every attempt to convince others that they actually needed what I have to sell.

And when I come to the end of the line, I hope that a half dozen friends will testify they never heard me say an unjust or unkind word of anyone's character.

Old-Fashioned Fruit Butters Still Retain Popular Appeal

Fruit butters are an old-fashioned form of preserves which have never lost their appeal. They consist of pulped fruit cooked with sugar until the consistency has a homogeneous thick consistency soft enough to spread easily when cold.

Plums are particularly good for butter. The recipe given below has a tang and the addition of dried apricots gives excellent consistency and body to the butter.

Another advantage of this recipe is that plums too ripe for canning or preserving may be used. Cut the plums in slices not more than 1-3 inch thick, and the apricots in slices not more than 1-3 inch thick.

Plum, Apricot Butter

1 1/3 cups (½ pound) dried apricots.
1½ cups liquid from apricots
8 cups (3½pounds) prepared plums
5 cups (2¼ pounds) sugar
½ tsp. salt

Wash apricots, cut in narrow strips with scissors. Cover with cold water and let stand over-night, or bring to a boil and simmer, covered, about 15 minutes. Drain. Measure liquid into large preserving kettle. If necessary, add water to make 1½ cups.

Wash about 4 pounds ripe plums. Remove pits and slice. Weigh or measure into preserving kettle. Add apricots. Bring to boil and cook, covered, about 15 minutes, or until tender, stirring occasionally. Add sugar and salt, and mix well. Cook slowly until mixture boils, stirring only until sugar is dissolved.

Boil rapidly about 2 minutes, or until clear and desired consistency is reached, stirring frequently to prevent scorching. Skim. Pour into clean, hot, sterilized glasses or jars and seal.

Peach and Plum Jam

4½ cups prepared fruit
7½ cups sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, peel and pit about 1½ pounds fully ripe peaches and chop fine. Fit about 1 pound fully ripe plums. Do not peel the plums. Cut in small pieces and crush. Combine fruits.

eMasure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle and mix well. Bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir consistently before, and during boiling. Boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in fruit pectin. Skim; pour quickly.

TOASTED SNACKS PROVE NOVEL LUNCHEON DISH

Something just a little different for luncheon or the Sunday night supper—that's always a problem in the economic budget.

Toasted Luncheon Snacks
(Four Servings)

8 slices bread
2 tbsps. orange marmalade
6 ozs. prepared ham and pork (½ can)
2 cups cooked fresh peas, parsley, pickle slices.

Cut bread into round with large biscuit cutter. Spread thinly with butter and marmalade. Mash ham up until it spreads smoothly, and cover rounds of bread with ham. Arrange on a 15-inch heat resistant glass platter and toast in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 minutes or until well browned. Pour peas onto platter between rounds. Garnish with pickle slices and parsley. Serve right in the glass platter which keeps the snacks hot.

STUFFED TOMATOES 'DRESS UP' TABLE

Stuffed tomatoes go well with any meal. Then too, they serve to "dress up" the table.

Stuffed Tomatoes
(Serves 4)

4 firm ripe tomatoes
1½ cups canned baked beans
4 strips bacon, salt and pepper.

Cut slices from tops of tomatoes and scoop out most of the pulp. Chop pulp, drain off the juice, and combine with the beans. Season. Refill tomato shells, top with pieces of bacon. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) one-half hour, until bacon is crisp and tomatoes tender.

TRY THESE PREPARATIONS FOR VEGETABLE DISHES

Tomatoes, squash, cucumbers and eggplant are economical vegetables.

For best results, try something a little different from the old standby recipes.

Eggplant Casserole

1 small eggplant
1 tsp. salt
pepper
2 tbsps. butter
¾ cup grated cheese
¾ cup canned or stewed fresh tomatoes

Slice eggplant in 1-inch slices and pare. Place slices in buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with cheese, then tomatoes. Dot with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper again. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) one hour, or until eggplant is tender.

Stuffed Cucumbers
(Serves 4 to 6)

3 large cucumbers
1½ cups medium white sauce
½ cup grated cheese
1½ cups flaked cooked fish
salt, pepper
½ cup dry bread crumbs
1 tbsp. melted butter

Cut cucumbers in half lengthwise, scoop out centers but do not pare. Parboil 10 minutes. Mix white sauce, cheese and fish, add seasoning. Fill cucumbers. Toss bread crumbs in melted butter and sprinkle over top of cucumbers. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

Crook-Neck Squash

1 small yellow crook-neck squash
3 tbsps. butter
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup cream or top milk

Wash and slice squash in ¾ inch pieces. Spread both sides of slices with butter. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in covered baking dish in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Then add cream or milk and bake until lightly browned.

SALAD LOVERS VOTE APPROVAL OF NEW KINDS OF DRESSING TREATS

Almost all salad lovers prefer the so-called French dressing made of oil and vinegar and spices and herbs. But that French dressing type has many forms and can be changed considerably for different kinds of salads and to suit different tastes.

Rio Grande French Dressing
(1¼ cups dressing)

1 teaspoon salt
1¼ teaspoon chili powder
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¾ cup olive oil or salad oil
¼ cup cider vinegar
1/3 cup finely chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, cut in half

Combine ingredients in order given in glass jar. Seal well and shake. Store in refrigerator and use as needed. Shake vigorously just before serving.

Garlic may be removed before storing if only a "suspicion" of its presence is desired. If desired, half teaspoon grated onion may be substituted for the garlic. This dressing is excellent mixed with mixed vegetable, deviled egg, asparagus, pineapple or tomato salad. Use it to marinate meat, potato or vegetable salads that are to be served with mayonnaise. The proportion of vinegar to oil is a matter of personal taste.

Wine Vinegar French Dressing
(One cup)

1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¾ cup olive or salad oil
¼ cup wine vinegar
1 clove garlic, cut in half

Combine ingredients in order given in glass jar. Seal, shake well, and stand in refrigerator several hours before serving. Shake well again just before serving.

Here's a mild flavored French dressing which is especially good for tossed salads, and excellent for marinating fish, seafood, potato and meat salads.

Tarragon French Dressing
(One cup)

1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¾ cup olive or salad oil
¼ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup tarragon vinegar
½ teaspoon grated onion

Combine ingredients in order given in glass jar. Seal, shake well and store in refrigerator. Always shake well again just before serving.

University Women Gain in Membership

Eleven new members were added to the rolls of the Eastern Steuben Branch of the American Association of University Women at its meeting in the Baron Steuben last Thursday. Mrs. Robert S. Cole, membership chairman introduced the following as new members: Miss Ruth Cain, Mrs. Charles Clapp, Mrs. Frederick D. Clapp, Mrs. Archie Hall, Miss Reba Masterson, Mrs. John Mitchell Mrs. Campbell Rutledge, Mrs. Morton Shaw, Mrs. Donald Shoemaker, Mrs. Edwin Stebbins and Mrs. William Woolverton. The branch voted its customary $10 contribution to the Community Chest. The meeting was concluded with a most interesting talk on current fashions, ably aided by Miss Joan LeValley, who modeled the new creations.

STRANGE MALADY HITS SYRACUSE BEAUTY

Miss Gordyne Sedgwick, 21-year old beauty contest winner of Syracuse was stricken at the World's Fair with a strange malady which threatened paralysis of her lungs, and was removed to a New York hospital and placed in an "iron lung" where specialists are studying the uncommon disease. The unusual symptoms developed following an injury to her ankle while attending the Fair.

Scouters to Hold Pow-Wow at Camp Gorton

Camp Gorton, Steuben Council Area Boy Scout Camp located on Lake Waneta will be humming with activity this week-end, September 27, 28 and 29th, when they will "stage" Inter - Council Training Courses and a Troop Committee Pow-Wow of the Steuben Council Troop Committee Members. Five other councils will be represented at these six different Courses which will include a course in Crafts, First Class Nature Course, Cubbing Course, Troop Camping Course, a Course in Sea Scouting and Explorer Scouting.

The Course in Crafts will begin Friday evening and end Saturday noon and then be repeated again on Saturday and Sunday. "Oc" Minor of Craft Service, Rochester, N. Y., and his assistants (one of which is Jim Lombard, our Camp Gorton Craft Director this past season) will be on the job with the latest inexpensive projects. Men in this course will learn several projects which can be used in the Troop Program.

The First Class Nature Course will also begin on Friday and be repeated on Saturday. Dr. T. T. Odell of Hobart will help men learn how to teach their Scouts the identity of trees, shrubs, birds and constellations. During the summer he conducts surveys of bird and animal life in various parts of the United States. (Here is a difficult First Class requirement which will have lasting value).

The above two courses will be repeated so that any Scouter that will be present for the entire week-end will have the opportunity of gaining knowledge in two different fields. The following four courses will be given only once starting at 3:00 P. M. on Saturday.

The first one of these is a Cubbing Course, which will be led by our own Leon Robbins, Steuben Area Council Cubbing Commissioner. This course is primarily to help new Pack Leaders and those interested, in finding out how Cubbing works. Parent institutions interested in organizing a Cub Pack in their institution should have a representative present at this course.

The Troop Camping Course will be under the direction of F. D. Pond, Assistant Professor of Forestry at Cornell University. As a forester, Professor Pond estimated timber and surveyed timberlands for several years in Canada, the Adirondacks, Indiana, and South Carolina. For four summers he has handled courses in Camping and Woodcraft at Ithaca College, Physical Education Camp in Vermont, and has taught out-door cookery and similar courses at 4-H Camps. Men taking this course will camp over-night with Professor Pond in a site developed by themselves. A great experience is assured. Each man taking the course is responsible for securing his own equipment, which will be necessary for taking the course.

The two courses of Sea Scouting and Explorer Scouting will be directed by "Jim" Boyer, a veteran Scout Executive, who is an expert in the organization and operation of their Senior Programs. His acquaintance with this particular section of New York State makes him especially able to help solve some of our problems with Senior Scouting. He will be assisted in each subjejct by several laymen from Plainfield, N. J. Actual practice in each program will be possible. The "land" Sea Scout Ship, "Commodore Perry" will be used in connection with the Sea Scout Courses.

A Troop Committee Pow-Wow of the Steuben Council Troop Committee members has been called at Camp Gorton for meeting of the Troop Committee in relation to Camping, starting with a dinner at 1:00 P. M. Camping is one of the most important phases in the Scouting Program and every Troop Committee member is urged to make a special effort to attend. W. H. Curtiss of Corning, one who is in touch with what is being done in Camping, will take part.

Ida Tarbell Drops Roosevelt

Miss Ida M. Tarbell, author and biographer of Abraham Lincoln, after voting twice for Mr. Roosevelt for president, now favors the election of Wendell L. Willkie in November.

"From the beginning" Miss Tarbell wrote to the Republican National Committee, "I have feared that the methods of Mr. Roosevelt were in danger of defeating his ends. He is not a sound administrator . . . too much of an improvisor . . . too little patience. He wants to do it all by himself. All that is good in Mr. Roosevelt's program stands a better chance of final realization through Mr. Willkie's handling than through Mr. Roosevelt's. What it amounts to is that I do not believe Mr. Roosevelt indispensable to a genuine democracy."

Some men grow under responsibility, others only swell.

FRONT LINE FIRING

The Red Cross in England is trying to collect the 130,000,000 electric light bulbs that are discarded each year in Britain and will sell the metal caps.

The most tragic development in London, according to intelligence cables, is damage to sewers and water supply. In a city of such dense population as London, this can be more devastating than the bombs themselves.

BRITONS DENY SHELLS HIT LONDON

In London the Aldwych subway line, 100 feet deep, has been designated as that city's first deep air-raid shelter, in response to the public's demand for improved protection. This line—equivalent to New York City's Times Square-Grand Central shuttle—is about one-third mile long, and is a spur of the Piccadilly line. It connects Aldwych and Holborn.

200,000 FRENCHMEN GET JOBS

From Vichy, seat of government of the Petain regime, comes the announcement that 200,000 unemployed workers in unoccupied France will be put to work on a vast new public works project expected to take five years. The program involves improving and lengthening rail lines, rebuilding bridges and extending the telephone and telegraph services.

WEDS DURING AIR-RAID

From London comes word of the marriage of Homer Jenks of Quincy, Mass., now attached to the staff of the United Press in London, and Miss Beryl L. Clinton, daughter of Mrs. Ivy D. Clinton of Nyewoods, Selsdon, Surrey, during a recent air-raid alarm.

Jesuits Celebrate 400th Anniversary

Friday, September 27, is the 400th anniversary of the founding of the Society of Jesus. During the attack of the French on Navarre in 1521, a young Spanish soldier named Ignatius Loyola was wounded. His thoughts during convalescence turned to spiritual matters, and later a pilgrimage to the holy land decided him on a religious career.

In Paris, after eleven years study, he joined with five university students in vows to dedicate their lives "to the greater glory of God". They journeyed to Rome to offer their services to the church. On September 27, 1540, Pope Paul III issued a bull sanctioning their plan for a unique education and missionary project coordinated with the church but distinct from its regular organization.

The Jesuit movement grew and spread remarkably. They went everywhere, teaching and converting. Nothing deterred them and through their turbulent history the Jesuits have survived the calculated death blows of antagonistic religious and political movements in every land and penetrated to corners of the globe still unfamiliar to most people.

Today there are some 26,000 Jesuits working throughout the world. In the United States there are about 5,400 members. They maintain 10 colleges and 14 universities among which are Georgetown, Fordham, Holy Cross, and Canisus in Buffalo. Three radio stations, WWL, New Orleans; WEW, St. Louis and WHAD, Milwaukee. A Jesuit's formal education is never completed. Their summer schools are attended by men of all ages. They are recognized by all creeds as among the world's foremost scholars.

"Reliefer" Finds 10-Carat Gem

Wondering how she could get her family off relief, Mrs. Teresa Garramone picked up a 10-carat diamond while walking in Union Square in New York City.

The big hunk of "ice" looked like 5 & 10 cent jewelry, but Mrs. Garramone took it to a jeweler, just to be sure and found to her amazement it might be worth as much as $10,000. She turned it over to the police, but if the owner does not claim it by October 10th, the stone will be her property and she will have the answer of how to get off the relief rolls.

A New York detective agency which specializes in tracing lost persons has been employed by 70,000 wives to find missing husbands, but by only fifteen husbands to find their wives.

Mrs. Dalrymple Heads Steuben O. E. S.

The Fall meeting of the Steuben District, Order of Eastern Star, held at Wayland, Mrs. Daniel E. Dalrymple, 29 East Pulteney street, Corning, was elected President of the Present and Past Worthy Matrons. Mrs. Dalrymple is a Past Worthy Matron of Odakonya Chapter of Painted Post and the Spring meeting will of consequence be held in that village.

Mrs. James Martin

The death of Mrs. Margaret Martin, widow of James Martin, occurred at her home on Cooper Ave., Tuesday morning following a long period of ill health. The immediate cause of her death was a streptococcuc throat infection from which she had suffered about ten days.

Margaret Stewart Martin was born in the town of Rathbone, February 21, 1867, the daughter of William and Margaret (Borden) Stewart. She grew to womanhood in that vicinity and about 45 years ago was united in marriage to James Martin. They resided on a farm on Catherine Creek for a time and about forty years ago moved to Addison where Mr. Martin was engaged in Carpenter work. His death occurred about six years ago.

Mrs. Martin was a member of the Addison Presbyterian Church, faith ful to the services of the church, the missionary society and the Fidelis Class until ill health forced her to curtail her activities. She was also active in Grange work over a long period of years.

She is survived by one brother, John Stewart of Meads Creek and a number of nieces and nephews and more distant relatives.

Funeral services will be held from the MacDowell Funeral Home on Front street this (Thursday) afternoon at two o'clock, D. S. T. The Rev. John V. Axtell will officiate and burial will be in Addison Rural Cemetery.

Mrs. Frank Smyth Died Suddenly

This community was shocked Monday when news was quickly spread about that Mrs. Ruth Ethel Smyth, 53, Front street died suddenly. Mrs. Smyth had been confined to her home since August 22 from a fractured hip, but her condition was not regarded as critical at any time. Monday, about noon, she suffered a heart attack and died before medical aid could be summoned.

Mrs. Smyth was born Ruth Ethel Hammond in Addison on May 22, 1887. She was a daughter of the late Wellington and Mrs. Hammond. Her early childhood was spent in Sodus Center but she later returned to Addison with her parents and completed her education here. In 1904 she was graduated from the Addison High Teacher's Training class and also from the Corning Northside Teacher's Training Class. Miss Hammond taught in the rural schools of the vicinity for three years after which she became clerk in the Addison Post Office under the late O. B. Stratton.

September 13, 1913, she became the bride of the late Frank Smyth of Cameron, an employee of the Erie Railroad. He was killed by a train five years ago. Mrs. Smyth returned to the Addison Post Office as clerk and has continued there since that time.

Mrs. Smyth was a member of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer and the Women's Auxiliary attached thertto and was also a member of Cameron Eastern Star Chapter. In addition to that she made many friends throughout Cameron and Addison vicinity as testifie by he profusion of flowers which were sent to the home.

In addition to her mother, with whom she lived, she leaves a daughter, Ruth Ann, 11.

Prayers were said at the home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and church services were conducted in the Church of the Redeemer at 2:30 o'clock with the Rev. Roger Adding of Christ Church Corning in charge. He was assisted by the Rev. William Willson, retired. Burial was in Addison Rural Cemetery.

Knights Open Football At Arkport Fri.

The Addison Knights open their football season Friday at Arkport in what promises to be one of the toughest campaigns for the Knights since touchfootball was instituted here.

These two teams have met six times since football rivalry began and Addison has held Arkport scoreless in all six games while piling up 67 points in the six games.

However, the local boys are not overconfident owing to the fact a new coach has taken over at Arkport and with the change of style and pace, the Knights are in for some tough football.

The Arkport games have always been highlights of the season for the Addison team and this year should prove no exception in being hotly contested.

It is expected many fans will accompany the team to Arkport for the opener Friday afternoon.

Largest Squad Reports for AHS Football—Ten-Game Schedule

Coach Bill Miller of the Addison Knights football squad hopes to keep the Addison goal line free of scores from opposing teams again this year as in the past year and also to win a championship for Addison High School in touchfootball.

A 10 game schedule has been arranged, the most games scheduled since football was instituted here four seasons ago.

A veteran squad of five has been reporting for daily practice, and this with several promising members of young classes, should give the Knights a fast and tricky team.

The veterans are Harold Hargrave, Andrew Dominick, Darrell Hopper, John O'Connor and Dick Gladstone. Candidates reporting for positions this year are Mervin Ingersoll, Ralph Vona, Coral Bliss, Marvin Ricker, Matthew Whitmore, Ronald Beek, John Nichols, Jack Casey, Charles Wilson, Keith Kizer, Leo Coleman, Donald Gee, Carl Jackson, Elmer Bovee, Merle Robbins, James Hall and Junior Switzer.

There is a possibility that Paul Thomson may return to school and if so, he would greatly strengthen the blocking in the backfield as most of last year's backfield was graduated.

Coach Miller is heartened by the fact that this is the largest squad he as ever had out for practice.

The schedule of games for the squad:—

Friday, Sept. 27,—at Arkport
Tuesday, Oct. 1—Andover here
Friday, October 4—at Knoxville
Tuesday, Oct. 8—Jasper here
Thursday, Oct. 10—Mansfield here
Tues. Oct. 15—At Greenwood
Friday Oct. 18—Arkport here
Tuesday, Oct. 22—At Andover
Fri. Oct. 25—Knoxville here

The league games are those with Andover and Arkport.

Buffalo Unearths First Edition Boswell

A rare, first edition of Boswell's "Life of Johnson" published in 1791 was found, dust-covered and hidden among piles of books, in the basement of the home of the late Robert B. Adam, department store executive. The volume, one of a set of two published as a first edition, bears several marginal notes, believed to be in Boswell's handwriting. Book experts who have examined the work declare it may possibly be worth several thousand dollars.

Former Addisonian Develops Hobby Into Literary Craft

Local people will be interested in a recent column in the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle which is written by Henry Clune. The column tells of the unusual hobby of a Rochester fireman who spends his many otherwise idle hours between alarms in collecting and cataloguing books.

The fireman is Capt. Jay I. Dickerson, son of the late Frank Dickerson who lived on Farnham Extension. The writer with a number of other Addisonians attended school with Jay in the old high school building down on Curtis Square. We recall that when we entered high school Principal Ernest E. Cole, now the distinguished Commissioner of Education of the State of New York remarked that Jay would be able to figure rings around the rest of us in geometery (Mr. Cole's own class) because his father was a carpenter.

Unfortunately Jay quit school, thus spoiling a prophesy which would probably have otherwise proved true. But the sketch from Mr. Clune shows he has gained a far greater intimacy with books over the years than do most college graduates. We are glad to print the following quotation from Mr. Clune and acknowledge we are indebted for it to Mrs. Julia Smith, aunt of Mr. Dickerson. —Ed's note.

Firemen in their off hours used to play checkers. Some times they played pinochle. Nowadays some of them play ping-pong. Of course some jjust nap or loaf around in the sun in front of the firehouse or toss a baseball in a game of catch. It's a long dull wait between alarms. For Capt. Jay I. Dickerson, Engine 23 of Exchange street, the hours of waiting are far too few.

"Sometime, to get this job I'm at done", Captain Dickerson said, "I wish there were two of me. Of course", he added, "the job really never can get done."

Captain Dickerson is a book collector. He specializes in first issues, which are slightly ahead of first editions. He has 3,000 'items' as he calls them, in his collection. He has become a bibliographer of local distinction. He hopes sometimes to do a catalogue and monograph that will be a tool for the collectors' trade.

I heard about Captain Dickerson through Robert R. Brooks, the writer and book authority from New York, who attended a local book auction a few weeks ago. Mr. Brooks said that he knew instantly that "the man Dickerson was a fellow who knew what it was all about", and he was interested to learn that the "man Dickerson" was a fire captain during duty hours. He told me this and I went over to see the captain.

Captain Dickerson had always been quite a reader. He liked books much better than the ordinary firehouse recreations. But it wasn't until he took up the crossword puzzle craze, a few years back, and was forced to do a great deal of reference reading in the library, that he became interested in books from the collectors' point of view. Collecting reference works of his own, to help him with his puzzles, he began, little by little, to put together a miscellaneous library. That was two years ago. Now he is in the book collecting business "up to here".

His filing system, in which he lists not only his own "items", their values, etc., but thousands of other books he has never even seen, grows each week. It is far from complete, and never can be complete, but it already contains information that would be enormously valuable to any professional collector. From this material he hopes, in time, to construct his catalogue and monograph.

Captain Dickerson gives all of his spare time in the firehouse and most of his spare time outside of it to the business of collecting and listing books. He is in constant touch with other collectors through out the country and his desk is littered with catalogues from the book trade. When he talks about books there is a fervid glint in his eyes and he fondles his prize possessions like a loving mother with a first child. Books, books, and books! The captain eats and sleeps them.

"Do you read a lot?" I asked.

The captain sighed. "That's the trouble", he said. "I'm so busy collecting, filing and taking notes that I scarcely get time to read these days. That, I suppose, is the curse of this business. And once I liked to read better than anything. In time, though"—and he waved a hand at the filled cases — "I'll get through a few of these. What a lot of reading there is to be done in those piles, eh?"

Deer Wrecks Wilhelm Car On Painted Post Road

Charles Wilhelm, Campbell, R. D., was driving on the Painted Post-Bath road at midnight Monday when his car struck and killed one of the most perfect buck deer seen in this vicinity in some time. Game Warden Ray Reed had the head of the deer in Addison Tuesday, the carcass having been turned over to the CCC camp for use. The deer had eight fully developed points evenly spaced and a ninth point just beginning to show. The car was wrecked by the force of the impact as fenders, headlights and grill was ruined. The deer weighed about 210 pounds.

New York Times Supports Willkie

The New York Times has announced its support of Wendell L. Willkie for the presidency. This is the first time since 1908 that the Independent - Democratic widely-read newspaper has given aid to a Republican presidential candidate. The TIMES said:

"We must give our own support to Mr. Willkie primarily for these reasons: Because we believe that he is better equipped than Mr. Roosevelt to provide this country with an adequate defense; because we believe he is a practical liberal who understands the need of increased production; because we believe that at a time when the traditional safeguards of democracy are falling everywhere it is particularly important to honor and preserve the American tradition against vesting the enormous powers of the presidency in the hands of any man for three consecutive terms of office."

Nazis Grab Big Part of French Food Imports

What happens to food brought to France is illustrated by the disposal of a shipload of 8,000 sheep obtained from North Africa. When they arrived at a French port, 5,000 of them were appropriated by the Germans and Italians.

France, with the burden of the German Army on its back, faces tional budget, without taking into consideration reconstruction costs. The monthly bill of the army of occupation is 12 billion francs. This exceeds the revenue of France from direct taxation for the year 1939. And this army upkeep is a prior lien. Severe rationing of fuel and food looms ahead. Already the Vichy government admits there will be a dearth of fats, sugar and vital necessities. And in addition to paying the cost of the army of occupation, France must find rations for the Germans, further reducing her own food resources. The $8,000,000 a day which the Nazi army is costing France is likely considered a justified cover charge by the Germans.

T. A. Adams Dead Retired Executive

Mrs. John F. Murray, summer resident of Addison received word Saturday of the death that day of her brother, T. Albeus Adams of New York and Montclair, N. J. Mr. Adams a native of Steuben County was an influential business man in New York City.

Mr. Adams was also a brother of the late Mary A. Wood of Front street, who passed away a few years ago.

The following article is taken from the Sunday, September 15 issue of the New York Times.

Special to The New York Times

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Sept 14—T. Albeus Adams, retired president and chairman of the board of the Union Terminal Cold Storage Company of Jersey City, the Manhattan Refrigerating Company of New York and the Kings County Refrigerating Company of Brooklyn, died today at his home, 24 Prospect Terrace, after an illness of thirteen months.

Born in Troupsburg, N. Y., Sept 5, 1864, the son of Thomas Quincy and Catherine Morton Adams, Mr. Adams was educated in public and private schools in New York State. He studied law, but entered business, becoming general manager in New York for Swift & Co. In 1898, with his brother, Robert A. Adams, he formed the wholesale meat and provision distributing firm of Adams Brothers Company, which later was purchased by Swift & Armour.

From 1898 until 1906 he was president of the Gansevoort Bank of New York City and also served as president and director of the Manhattan Refrigerating Company of New York. In 1907, with his brother and T. W. Faliaferro he acquired the controlling interest in the Union Terminal Cold Storage Company of Jersey City. Mr. Adams served as president and later as chairman of the board of the three companies until Feb. 1, 1939, when, because of ill health, he retired from active management.

Active in Credit Group

In 1895 Mr. Adams was instrumental in forming the New York Credit Men's Association and was one of the incorporators of the National Credit Men's Association.

Mr. Adams played an important part in the consummation of the Holland Tunnel project under the Hudson River. In 1916, when the enterprise seemed destined to be dropped, he obtained for it the support of Essex County and two other New Jersey counties.

With the tunnel launched under the joint auspices of New York and New Jersey, Mr. Adams became a member of the New Jersey Interstate Bridge and Tunnel Commission, later serving as its chairman. He was also active in 1925 in the plans and negotiations leading to the building of the Camden-Philadelphia suspension bridge, serving on the committee which built the span.

Mr. Adams took an active part in the improvement of the Port of New York, particularly of wholesale market terminals. He had served as president of the Market men's Association of the Port of New York for the last ten years.

Fought Rail Competition

In 1932 he helped to organize the Warehousemen's Protective Committee with a membership of 400 warehousemen throughout the United States and served for seven years as chairman. The committee was formed to resist the invasion of the railroads into commercial warehouse business and the cutting of warehouse rates to levels below costs of service.

With his brother he built the Adams Memorial Church at Westfield, Pa., in memory of their mother, Catherine Morton Adams.

Mr. Adams served as chairman of the lay board of trustees of St. Vincent's Hospital here for a number of years. He was a member of the Montclair Athletic Club, the Lake Placid (N. Y.) Club, the Steuben County Society of New York, Greenwich Council, Knights of Columbus, New York, and Immaculate Conception Church. In 1923-24 he served as chairman of the Essex County Democratic Committee and also was a Presidential elector. He was also active in charitable and philanthropic work.

Besides his brother, who lives in Saddle River, he leaves a widow, Mrs. Kathleen Wallace Adams of this place; two daughters, Mrs. John M. Cronin of Montclair and Mrs. Louis J. Aaieta of New York; two sons, T A. Adams, Jr., and John Quincy Adams of Montclair, and two sisters, Mrs. John F. Murray of New York and Mrs. John Brougham Wallace of Montclair.

A solemn high mass of requiem will be offered in the Immaculate Conception Church Monday at 10 A. M. The celebrant will be Mgr. William F. O'Brien of Durham, N. C, a cousin of Mr Adams. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, North Arlington the school authorities or parents, of children before the work is done.

Seniors To Washington

Seniors were given permission to take their annual trip to Washington and to begin preparations for it. The action granting this permission was made in a resolution by Mr. Knebel and seconded by Mr. Willson.

Grange members were given permission to use the school auditorium one night in October for a Pomona meeting and initiation. Mr. Knebel moved the permission be given and it was seconded by Mr. Callahan.

Harold Smith, local coal dealer, was given the contract to supply Pittsburgh & Shaumutt coal to the district at $5.50 per ton, the price now being paid. He will provide the same coal as is being used.

To Fill Water Hole

Trustee Baxter suggested that while paving work is being done about the village, something be done to fill the hole in front of the school at the intersection of Colwell street and Valerio Parkway. On motion of Mr. Callahan and seconded by Mr. Ackerson, he was given permission to purchase three tons of blacktop from A .L. Blades & Son, at $7.50 per ton.

Mr. Callahan brought to the attention of the Board the fact the chimney on the grammar school building is rotting and in dangerous condition. He suggested removal of seven feet from the roof and capping the chimney. The matter was referred to the building committee.

The bond of Robert Apgar as school district treasurer was approved. Ray S. Brown and Charles Crane were signers of the bond. The approval was given on motion of Mr. Baxter and seconded by Mrs. Perry.

School Taxes

Mr. Callahan moved that the tax warrants be signed and placed in the hands of the collector for the first half of the annual school year.

Mr. Knebel asked that permission be given the Boy Scouts to use an abandoned cloak room in the grammar school for a small kitchenette, the work to be done under supervision. The permission was granted.

Mrs. Perry moved that the board borrow money from the bank to pay current bills, this money to be repaid when taxes are collected. The district will borrow in anticipation of taxes.

Bills To Be Paid

Bills audited and ordered paid were: Teachers' salaries for September $2,583.64; janitors' salaries, $224; Addison Home Telephone Company, $3.10; Sanitary Appliance Company, $19.26; New York State Gas & Electric Company, $64.99; Addison Gas & Power Company, $1.76; Henry Shelanskey, gas, oil, and storage for power mower, $6.86 Irving R. # Steuben League Semi-Finals at L'ville Sunday

Sunday will determine the two teams to play in the finals in the Steuben County Baseball League for on that day, four teams will meet on the Lawrenceville diamond in the semi-finals.

The first game will be played at 12 o'clock standard time between Gang Mills and the Corning Fibre Box Company. Both of these teams have been playing bang up baseball throughout the season in the league an dhave given good accounts of themselves. Their game should prove a real attraction in spite of the early hour.

The second game will get under way at 2 o'clock between the Caton and aJsper nines. Both of these teams are aggressive and scrappy and yield nothing, playing hard and fast baseball for the entire game. They are probably the scrappiest teams in the league and as a result both should be playing hard ball to be present in the finals. Edd Winnie and Don Grange will umpire both contests.

The finals will be played Sunday October 5 on the Lawrenceville diamond with the winners of the Sunday games as opponents.

OSCEOLA

The Rev. and Mrs. Jacob Mitchell attended the Townsend meeting in Osceola Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Howard. The Rev. and Mrs. Mitchell recently secured eight new members for the Townsend Club.

Some of the farmers on Norway Ridge are sowing their winter wheat.

Tom and Ben Champlin spent Sunday at their home here.

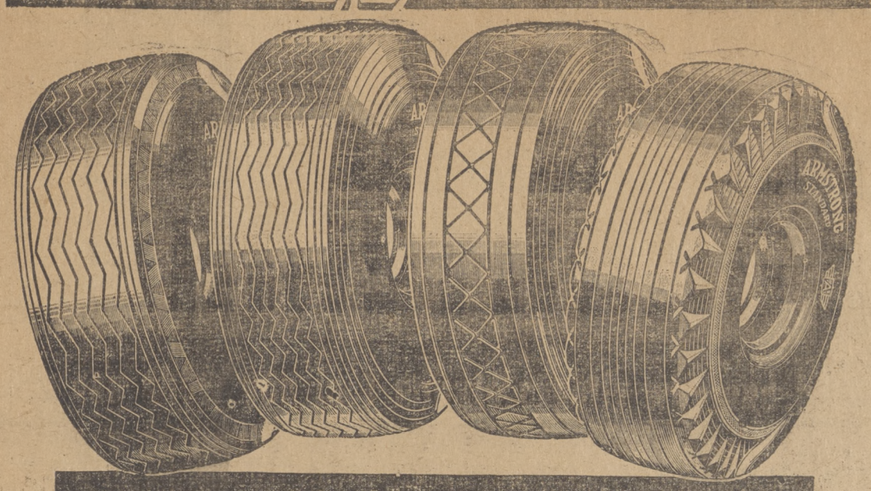
SAVE MONEY Safely-RIDE ON ARMSTRONGS



We can show you in 1 minute exactly why and how mileage is increased 34.7%. Not a "Hidden Value"

By using a new construction principle, which we can explain to you in one minute, tire mileage is increased 34.7% without adding one extra cent to cost. The same amount of fine materials are used—but molded differently to place the riding surface of the tire under compression instead of the customary pressure-tension that exists in regular balloon tires. This new construction principle used in all 4 Armstrong tires is the greatest development in the tire industry in over 15 years — and it costs you nothing extra for the added bonus miles.

TYRONE POWER IN "BRIGHAM YOUNG—FRONTIERSMAN"

In most motion pictures the plot is keyed to build up to one tremendous climax. Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Brigham Young" by Louis Bromfield, which is coming Saturday to the Fox Theatre, has many spectacular sequences, any one of which would make a thrilling climax for most pictures.

"Brigham Young" which has been called the great American motion picture, is the story of the historic Mormon trek westward. Tyrone Power is starred in the picture which features Linda Darnell in the leading feminine role and Dean Jagger as Brigham Young.

The size and scope of "Brigham Young" can be judged by the epic scenes it contains. Among them are:

The crossing of the Mississippi in the dead of winter by thousands of Mormons fleeing before guns.

The massacre at Nauvoo, Ill., when masked raiders pillaged the city and struck down defenseless hundreds.

The historic trek of 20,000 people across endless miles of wasteland.

The plague of millions of crickets during the first year at Great Salt Lake, and the miracle of the sea gulls which arrived in time to devour the insects and rid the Mormons of their pestilence.

Featured in Darryl Zanuck's colorful production are Brian Donlevy, Jane Darwell, John Carradine, Mary Astor, Vincent Price, Jean Rogers and Ann Todd.

King Carol's Fortune Is Adequate

When King Carol was ousted from the kingship of Rumania, he was granted a "pension" of $60,00' annually by the government. As he is reported to have salted away some $4,000,000 in London banks, along with $400,000 worth of shares in the Suez Canal as an added nest-egg against such a rainy day as now besets him, his only trouble now is finding a country where he may live.

Portugal has given him temporary refuge but does not want him there permanently, and few European nations would care to risk the displeasure of Hitler by harboring the fallen monarch. He is reported seeking a haven in the United States, Canada or South America, as neither France nor England will harbor him, and his faded, flame-tressed Magda.

BORDEN

Several local members attended the Home Bureau rally in Corning Friday.

Mrs. Frank Gould was in Corning shopping Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Reitenauer and son of Hornell were callers in Borden Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gould spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Gould of Simons Hill where Mrs. Gould helped care for her daughter who was very ill of pneumonia.

Several members attending Grange Friday, evening gave Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hartley a "horning bee". Mr. and Mrs. Linsford Calkins were given a house warming party also.

Ray Harris and Marvin Snyder have secured employment at the Ingersol-Rand in Painted Post.

Philip Benjamin spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Linsford Calkins.

TRACY CREEK

Recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell and family were: Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Crosby and children, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brown, Mrs. William Crosby and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morey all of Hornell.

Visitors and callers at the home of E. Tompkins and family recently were Mrs. Margaret Rose, Mrs Kate Douglas and Mrs. Bernice Bliss of Tioga Junction; Miss Leah Rose of Ithaca, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bebout and family of Hornell, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kuhn and daughter Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tompkins and daughters of Freeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd were in Elmira Sunday to see Mrs. Boyd's brother, Fred Smith who is seriously ill.

Mrs. Frank Campbell, Mrs. E. Tompkins and Miss Mattie Cook attended the funeral of Mrs. Zeno Selleck at Woodhull Friday. Mrs. Selleck was a former resident on Tracey Creek and was very much liked by all who knew her Jerry Tombs and family moved to Hammondsport Friday night.

The narrower the mind, the broader the statement it authors.

Sports—

Time rolled back a few years last Saturday night at a dinner in Hotel Bossert, Brooklyn, when the Junior Chamber of Commerce tendered a dinner to old time Dodger stars. Among those present to revive baseball memories were Zack Wheat, Arthur C. Vance, Rube Bressler, Hy Myers, Jimmy Johnson Nap Rucker, Tommy Griffith, Sherrod Smith, Val Picinich and Bernien Neis.

The new $25,000 home of the Feller's in Van Meter, Iowa is completed and the family has moved in. The modernly complete home was purchased for the "folks" by their son, Bob Feller, outstanding pitcher of the year and of the Cleveland Indians.

—o—

Arturo Godoy, South American heavyweight challenger, will meet Gus Dorazio in Philadelphia, Monday, October 7.

—o—

The Steuben Federation outing at Aviation Field, Hammondsport Sunday attracted one of the largest crowds in years, with perfect weather for dogs and guns. Attendees were from Buffalo east to Albany, and from Watertown on the north can League race is still slim for committees functioned well to make the affair a huge success.

—o—

Pat Comiskey will battle Maxie Baer in Jersey City tonight in what promises to be a good heavyweight battle.

—o—

Detroit held onto a margin by virtue of wins in the last week-end. The margin of lead in the American Leaguue race is still slim for Cleveland is only one game behind as this is written and the four time world champion Yankees are two and one half games off the pace. The two first teams will probably battle it out to a decision in the final series at Cleveland this week. This is the closest American race since 1908 when Detroit had .588 Cleveland .584 and Chicago .582 percent in games won,respectively.

—o—

Science can't figure what it is gives a certain pitcher a "whammy" over a certain ball club. Neither can the pitcher himself. For instance, it's only been the last two years that the loyal fans of Pittsburgh shudder and reach for a gun at sight of Fred Fitzsimmons' rotund figure parading to the peak against the Pirates. When Brooklyn invaded Pirateland last week Fat Fred rang up his 10th straight win over the Bucks. They haven't beaten him since May 2, 1939, no matter how many shifts they make in the batting order. He strafed them 5 straight last year, and this season, in spite of Frisch management and Gustine and Elliott and Vam Robays, Fitz has already equalled his Centennial Year success string vs. the Corsairs. But it wasn't always that way. Fitz couldn't beat the Pirates at all in 1938. That May 2, 1939, decision gave the Pirates a 4-straight winning streak over HIM!

—o—

As has happened in the past, the Addison baseball team seemed to collapse in mid-season and played desultory baseball the balance of the season with substitute players in many of the games. And the team had good prospects of being topnotch in the finals with most of the Painted Post squad having to return to school.

—o—

Coach Bill Miller has the biggest schedule the football eleven of Addison ever has had. There will be 10 football games played by the squad during the season with only four being league games. The squad has not lost a game in two years.

—o—

Football season is at hand. And the question comes up again as to whether baseball lasts too long or football starts too early. But each sport is crowding the other for front page notice. The Advertiser-Sentinel has a board of local experts who will pick the football games of the week and forecast the scores. The forecasting begins this week. Look for it in this paper.

A revue of the football schedules of some of the country's leading colleges reveals a greater interest in night football. It has proved a boon for the smaller colleges as far as attendance figures and income are concerned.

A Milwaukee golfer scared a bird from its nest. He took a swing at his ball and realized he had hit the egg of the bird he scared.

The University of Illinois has made a survey of college athletes of the past few years. The chief result made known so far is the fact that most athletes are succeeding in business.

—o—

Death removed a game fighter in Georgia Coleman, Olympic swimmer who had been ill several months. However she fought for life with all she had and gave a game demonstration of her will to live. Death conquered and removed a colorful young lady from the athletic picture.

Many Notables Migrate to U. S.

The exodus of children from Europe to the United States and Canada is one of the greatest migrations in human history. It has been estimated that perhaps 200,000 will seek temporary refuge here—manyfold the number of youngsters in the Middle Ages who set out in search of the Holy Grail.

While the royal children of Britain's reigning house, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, have been kept in England by King George and Queen Elizabeth, to share the common lot of all British children, many other minor scions of royalty have fled to the havens of safety offered by America.

Crown Princess Martha of Norway with her three children, Prince Felix of Burbon-Parma, consort of the Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxemburg, with their six children, Empress Zita of Austria and her two sons are all in America. Likewise, Davnia, 8, and Simon Bowes-Lyon, 10, small niece and nephew of Queen Elizabeth have found shelter here in the home of J. P. Morgan, the financier.

Beside the children, more than two hundred eminent men and women have fled from the oppression, intolerance ad lost homes of war-swept lands, probably the greatest westward trek of culture and intellectuals since American colonial days.

Just to mention a few of the bigger names, there are: Maurice Maeterlinck seeking a new "blue bird" of happiness; Sigrid Undset, Norwegian writer and winner of a Nobel prize; Thomas Mann the German author; Guissepe Borgese, Italian novelist; Albert Einstein, noted mathematician; James France, Nobel prize physicist; Eduard Benes, former president of Czecho - Slovakia; Ex-Chancellor Heinrich Bruning of Germany; Elsa Schiaparelli, fashion designer; Genevieve Tabouis, French journalist and latest to arrive is Baron Eugene de Rothschild and his wife international banker, who is said to have brought with him a million dollars in jewels.

Such additions to the "melting pot" that is America are welcome and valued contributions to the future fortune of this Land of Liberty.

Staff Surprises Com. With Dinner Party

Bath, Sept. 25—Members of the Steuben County Public Welfare staff gave Commissioner E. Ray Hardenbrook a real surprise Friday night when they invited him to be their guest at a dinner in honor of his renorination as Republican candidate for the office he now holds. The staff also entertained Mrs. Hardenbrook, the commissioner's daughter, Miss Lenora Hardenbrook, and a number of friends, nearly 100 being present.

ARMY ORDERS $21,919,068 IN TRUCKS

From Washington is announcement the placement of an order for trucks amounting to $21,919,068 by the War Department, divided among four manufacturers, as follows: Yellow Truck & Coach received $12,491,797; Fargo Motor Corp., $4,780,591; General Motors Corp., Chevrolet Division, $3,089,-304; and Diamond T. Motors $1,-557,376.

When Dave Smukler, Gloversville football star deserted the Chicago Bears professional football team to join the Army, he did not leave an opening for the Bears to regain the hard earned cash they paid the Philadelphia Eagles for him. The sales contract did not specifically state that Smukler must report to the Bears. Reminds one of a David Harum bargain.

Prizes for Naming Your Candidate

Who is your choice for President of the U. S. A.? Are you a Willkie fan or a Roosevelt fan? And why?

The Educational Research Committee, 33 East 48th street, New York City, is offering $100 in prizes for answers to these questions. There are ten first prizes of $5 each and fifty second prizes of $1 each. "Make your answers short and snappy", says the committee's announcement. "In fact, 25 words are enough."

Anyone, old or young, may compete. Answers from school children are especially invited. Entries may be sent on a postcard if desired. The contest closes this month, and prize money will be mailed the next day.

CONTEST RULES :

George King Receives Unusual Payment

"Steuben County lawyers, like physicians, are more generous in the treatment of financially embarrassed clients than the public realizes", said City Attorney Clarence H. Brisco Wednesday in telling a group of friends how District Attorney George A. King was paid for handling a negligence action.

"A farmer visited Mr. King", said Mr. Brisco, "and explained he was in danger of losing all his property as the result of an automobile accident. His car was not insured and he had been sued for a large sum by persons injured in a collison who held him responsible.

"Mr. King took the case and was able to prove to the satisfaction of a jury that the farmer had not in any way contributed to the accident and he was acquitted of all responsibility. He was over-joyed when the burden of worry was removed and said to Mr. King:

"'I realize I must owe you a large sum for your work in this case. I haven't much money but on the first day of each month I will make a payment on account until my debt to you is settled'.

Mr. King replied: 'If, on the first day of next month you will lay on my desk a liability policy covering your car I will give you a receipted bill for my services'.

"On the first day of the month the happy farmer handed Mr. King the policy and received in return the bill which had been marked 'paid in full'.

"It just goes to show that even a district attorney has a heart", concluded Corning's widely known expert on municipal problems.

U. S. Marines See the World

Sgt. James H. Harrington, officer in charge of the U. S. Marine recruiting station in Elmira, says the recent acquirement of the new U. S. Naval Bases from England, will give the Marines the largest choice of stations for duty they ever had. Sgt. Harrington, said it was not required that a Marine serve part of his enlistment on Foreign duty and that no Marine is allowed to serve over two consecutive years at a foreign station unless an emergency exists. He said it was very rare that a Marine was detailed to any place for duty, as the Marines always called for volunteers first. He said the policy of shifting Marines from one station to another by request made them the most traveled service in the world. He said the Marines now have stations stretching from Alaska to China.

Below is a list of places the U. S. Marines have stations at the present time.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Iona Island, N. Y., Fort Lafayette, N. Y., Philadelphia, Pa., Fort Mifflin, Pa., Dover, N. J., Lakehurst, N. J., Cape May, N. J., Boston, Mass., Hingham, Mass., Newport, R. I., Great Lakes, Ill., Portsmouth, Va., Norfolk, Va., Yorktown, Va., St. Julien's Creek, Va., Washington, D. C., Indian Head Md., Hawthorne, Nevada, Bremerton, Wash., Puget Sound, Wash., Quantico, Va., Charleston, S. C., Parris Island, S. C., Pensacola, Fla., Mare Island, Cal., San Francisco, Cal., San Diego, Cal., Alaska, Hawaii, Philippines, Guam, China, Peurto Rico, Virgin Islands, Samoa, Cuba, Canal Zone.

Marines are stationed on all battleships, plane carriers and heacruisers.

There are no Marines stationed in Haiti or Nicaraugua at the present time, says Sgt. Harrington.

DEFENSE PACE SLOW SAYS AYRES

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, chief statistician of the American Epeditionary Force, claims that army expenditures accelerated 28 time faster in 1917's first five war months than in a corresponding period in 1940.

When The Masks of Men Are Fallen

By Alec Templeton

You don't have to see a person to know him. You can tell a man by the feel of his hand as he shakes yours, and by the tone of his voice as he says "Hello."

We people with only four senses don't think of a person as tall or short, dark or fair. We remember and classify him by his speaking voice and, once met, we seldom forget him.

We see men and women with our ear and finger. We are not put off by superficial appearances. Smiles and mannerisms which hide character don't deceive us. We are not impressed by display of wealth, nor do we notice signs of poverty. Because we gather our impressions the way we must, I believe we arrive at a more accurate estimate of an individual than most persons with eyesight do.

I was born blind, and if I am content, perhaps it is because I don't know what I am missing. I am eternally thankful for one thing, however—that I am blessed with a sense of keen hearing, because music has given me a substitute for the sense of sight. In its rhythm my mind sees dancers. In its melody, I find color and light and movement.

I can't remember learning to play the piano. Both my mother and father played and sang, and my two sisters, both older than I, were given lessons as a matter of course. I used to listen, and then imitate them. Mother once said she started me at finger exercises when I was three, and by the time I was four I could play simple melodies after having heard someone else play them a few times.

I literally grew up at the keyboard. When I was five I wrote my first composition, a little piece of sixteen bars. My father still has it somewhere. When I was six I started to work systematically, and I gave my first concert at ten. I attended Worcester College to study organ under the great teacher, Sir Ivor A. Atkins, and improvising under Sir Henry Walford Davies, Master of King's Music. I took real delight in my studies. Practicing never bored me. It was fun. The piano keyboard was the best playground I knew.

My mother was a very wise woman. She did everything she could to prevent me from realizing my handicap and brought me up, as much as possible, like any other child. I had to put away my own toys when I was through with them, and I was expected to do little chores around the house, such as getting Father his slippers or mother her sewing basket.

I was eight years old before I knew I was different from other children. The knowledge came when an elderly woman visitor picked me up after I had fallen over a chair and said, "You poor, brave little blind boy!"

That night when mother was putting me to bed I asked what the visitor meant by calling me blind. My mother told me then but, of course, I didn't get the real significance of what she was saying. I turned over and went to sleep almost at once, mother says, so it couldn't have worried me much. It hasn't even to this day. We four-sense people have our compensations.

Bob Drake's Car Last to Cross Main Street Bridge

Robert Drake, well known athlete an promoter has the honor, if any, of being the last passenger car to drive over the Main street bridge before the E. W. Foley Co., Inc., engineers began demolition of the old steel structure.

And the honor of being the first vehicle over the new bridge, the temporary structure, belongs to the Gas Company for their truck went south on the structure at 3:30 and at 3:45 p. m., the old bridge was officially closed by Elmer C. Bovee, special officer for the construction company. The big crane was then run on the old bridge and the work of demolition started.

Some of the firsts on the new bridge as gathered by a reporter for this paper have been secured. Stanley Smith of Rathbone Road drove the first horses and wagon over the bridge, Homer Reynolds was the first local truck over the bridge, the Hedgesville bus was the first school or passenger bus over and the first baby in a carriage was Tommy Grange taken across by his mother, Mrs. Donald Grange.

The children have been using the main roadway for several days while the sidewalk has been under construction. The walk is located on the west side of the bridge.

Mortal Storm Avon Feature Next Week

In "The Mortal Storm", coming attraction on the Avon screen, film audiences are offered a drama of compelling power enacted with consummate artistry by a brilliant cast headed by Margaret Sullivan, James Stewart, Robert Young and Frank Morgan. The filmization of Phyllis Bottome's gripping and tensely exciting story of a family embittered and broken up as the result of the divided political beliefs of its various members, has been brought before the cameras with telling effects by the master of direction, Frank Borzage. Miss Sullivan's skill as a purveyor of emotions is shown to be at its very peak in her role as the daughter of a wronged professor, who must choose between the love of Stewart and Young, both of whom measure up to the exacting standards of difficult characterizations. Others offering excellent portrayals include Robert Stack, Bonita Granville, Irene Rich and William T. Orr.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to those who in any way remembered me during my recent confinement in the hospital. Again many thanks.

Sincerely,
Mark Hilfiger
